

2020 BHEF Scholarship Recipients

Kaitlyn Brown feels her biggest successes during her time at BHHS came through volunteering and having made positive impacts in her community. She is a passionate leader who is devoted to improving the lives of those around her. Kate is attending Montana State University in Bozeman, MT, studying business, marketing and videography.

Jordan Frank (Mars Family Scholar) has a steadfast work ethic and positive attitude which have enabled her to persevere despite the significant challenges she has faced. She graduated from Big Horn with a 4.0 GPA and is now pursuing a nursing degree at Sheridan College which will allow her to be positive advocate for others throughout her life.

Rowan Kelly exudes joy and a contagious cheerfulness. She was equally engaged in extra-curricular activities and academics through her high school career, graduating from BHHS with a 4.0 GPA. Rowan strives to help others and intends on becoming a teacher by earning her undergraduate degree in education from Boise State University.

Quinn McCafferty's kind and hard-working demeanor brought him many successes during his years as a Ram. However, he always prioritized respect for others above personal acclaim and achievement as a three-sport athlete, student leader, and youth mentor. Quinn is studying and playing baseball at Western Nebraska Community College.

Taylor Meineke (Johnston Family Scholar) personifies the perfect blend of confidence and happiness. She was active in athletics, art, drama and student council, yet managed to regularly volunteer her time and talents in her community. Taylor is deeply passionate about engaging children in learning and has chosen to study elementary education at Sheridan College.

Anna Melin managed to actively participate in various athletic, civic, and leadership opportunities, and complete over sixty college credits at Sheridan College while attending Big Horn High School. Her positive energy and highly organized nature will continue to bring her success. Anna is enrolled at Arizona State University, studying business.

2020 BHEF Scholarship Recipients

Mary Nicholson (Wright Family Scholar) has aspirations of a living well-balanced life and being able to help as many people as possible. Not only did she achieve high academic marks during her years at Big Horn, she was notably a National Merit Finalist. Mary is attending Arizona State University and studying computer science with an emphasis in cybersecurity.

Will Pelissier was known as an excellent athlete, but more importantly as a reliable and devoted teammate during his years as a Ram. Between sports, he committed much of his time to community engagement and improvement. Attending the University of Wyoming to study business this fall, Will is also playing football for the Cowboys.

Nolan Rader values community and is a true-blue Big Horn Ram and Wyomingite. The academic and athletic successes he attained through his high school career were testaments to the humility, thoughtfulness and dedication with which he approaches life. He chose to study civil engineering at Sheridan College this fall.

Courtney Wallach's résumé is underscored by her high academic marks, athletic achievements and vast leadership roles. Despite these accolades, her most remarkable qualities are her positive outlook and thoughtful perspective. Courtney is enrolled at Sheridan College this fall studying kinesiology with plans to pursue a physical therapy degree.
