

2019 BHEF Scholarship Recipients

Jenny Trabert Campos is known for being helpful, team-oriented and civically engaged. She has made significant impacts on her teachers and fellow students as a standout student and three-sport athlete while at Big Horn. Jenny is attending Sheridan College this fall and plans to obtain her bachelor's degree in international studies from the University of Wyoming.

Shyan Davidson is an outside-the-box thinker who achieved success in a variety of areas at Big Horn. She was elected the student body president, received numerous championships through her 4-H activities, as well as all-state recognition in volleyball. Shyan intends to study biology at the University of Wyoming and potentially become a dentist.

Kade Eisele's resume is highlighted by his high academic marks, athletic achievements, and vast leadership roles. Not only was he the captain of both the football and basketball teams and served as his class representative, Kade was appointed to two state-wide leadership councils while attending Big Horn High School. He will continue his education at the University of Wyoming and study civil engineering.

Liam Greenelsh takes pride in all his endeavors and is an entrepreneur at heart. As a Ram, he was an integral member of both the track & field and the multi-championship football teams. Though, Future Business Leaders of American and Skills USA were equally as important to him. Liam will begin his pursuit of a business and entrepreneurship degree at Sheridan College this coming fall. Liam was selected as the Johnston Family Scholar.

Alisyn Hutton managed to actively participate in various athletic and civic opportunities, and complete three semesters of college credits through Sheridan College while attending Big Horn High School. She is enthusiastic about helping others and plans to attain a health sciences degree and eventually a nursing certification at the University of Wyoming.

Jaxon Parker is a determined and hard-working young man. He was a accomplished football player and track athlete for the Rams. Jaxon has known since he was eleven-years-old that he wants to work as a special education teacher. He will follow his passions this fall by playing football at Black Hills State University and studying special education.

Georgina Ringley maintained a rigorous academic schedule and engaged in a variety of extracurricular activities during her time at Big Horn. She holds a deep commitment to her family and home town. Georgina will study photojournalism at the University of Wyoming as she is intent on making a difference in the world by giving a voice to those who are overlooked. Georgina was selected as the Wright Family Scholar.

Sydney Schmidt prioritized volunteering her time to help others during her high school career at Big Horn. Although she was a three sport athlete and maintained a near perfect GPA, she still managed to dedicate her spare time to community service projects. Sydney is attending the University of Wyoming this fall, intends on studying English education and eventually teaching back here in Big Horn. Sydney was selected as the Mars Family Scholar.

Samuel Walker connected with his community through his impressive musical talents, whether it was playing his guitar at school, church, Make-a-Wish events, or with his band at various venues around the county. Enrolled in the Honors College at the University of Wyoming this fall, Sam will begin his pursuit of a medical or dental degree with a bachelor's degree in biology.
